It looks great in each browser Clarify and say code that will not be lost on. It was done with care and love because you don't have to spend hours making it work ♥ You can see tabler code on your GitHub account. If you miss any feature feel free to create a traction request there, we'll definitely check it out. Tabler used Bootstrap, the most popular HTML, CSS and JS frame. Thanks to this in experienced developers you can modify code without any problem This is really good. I have already started to use this in one of the projects where we are in the reconstruction of the administrator's control panel. Good job!
